

The living area's midsection offers an elegant setting for entertaining guests. The wool carpet was designed by McGrath II and made with Holland & Sherry. “We always start with the rug,” Suzanne says. “The horizontal stripe helps to make the somewhat narrow space look bigger, while the border goes all the way around the room to help the living spaces feel like their own area—separate from the kitchen and dining area.” The slipper chairs are covered in a narrow ticking stripe, while the club chairs feature a textured cotton-linen blend with strapping on the arms to add interest to an otherwise plain fabric. Artwork by Mary Judge hangs above the wood-burning fireplace.
