

“Swatch Watch” Paintings by Lalani Nan

Posted by Betsy Wills on February 7, 2011 in Artist, Fine Art, Painting | 5 Comments

Remember “Color Me Beautiful” Parties? It was all the rage in the early 80’s. A “consultant” would invite you over and drape fabric swatches over your neck so you could learn your “season”. I’m a spring, but often have to fake like I’m a winter since they have the easiest time shopping. They are authorized to wear black and white, which are infinitely simpler colors to find than “melon” or “safflower”.

Artist Lalani Nan’s paintings of fabric swatches are worthy of any season.

Gallery Representation: Kenise Barnes Fine Art

